BATTLE LINES ARE DRAWN IN SUBSIDY FIGHT

Both Sides in Senate Dig in for Expected Clash

GIVEN RIGHT OF WAY

Progressive Group Ready to Join Democrats in Their Attack

Washington, Dec. 11.—Both sides dug in today for the Senate battle over the ship subsidy bill which is expected to develop into one of the bitterest legislative struggles ever waged in that body.

Senator Jones, Republican of Washington, chairman of the Senate commerce committee planned to throw out the first skirmish line of the administration forced by moving the bill to the "unfinished business" and thereby given the right of way over all other pending legislation.

Senators Borah, of Idaho; La Follette of Wisconsin; Norris of Nebraska and Capper of Kansas, were among those of the little progressive group on the Republican side, who stood ready to join the Democrats in attacking the proposed subsidy, and employing various tactics to block its passage.

Senator Jones warned if the bill failed, American national defense and commerce would alike suffer seriously.

MINING INDUSTRY IN THIS COUNTRY IS OVERDEVELOPED

New Coal Operations Should Not Be Developed It Is Claimed.

Washington, Dec. 11.—Studies of the United States coal commission already have developed the conclusion among its members that the bituminous coal mining industry in the United States is overdeveloped, and that good business and good citizenship require investors to cease from embarking upon new coal operations.

Except in a few localities, where transportation conditions may modify the general rule, the commission asserted, increased mining activity will do harm. The present excessive coal mining capacity, the commission further said, "can not for long lower the price of coal simply because that condition of things is wasteful."

"Too many soft coal mines and too many miners describes the situation in plain English," the commission's statement said. "In these coal mines more capital is invested and more miners are employed than are needed to produce the coal the country requires. The condition, of course involves waste on a country-wide scale.

"How to deflate the coal industry is one of the many problems before the commission. It seems plain enough, however, that the industry should not be further inflated by opening new mines."

Existing bituminous mines, the statement continued, can produce theoretically a billion tons of coal per year, while the country consumes only a half billion tons. The result, in some places, is to bring about, the commission said, a "mine working time which is too short to pay adequately either owners or miners."

DIES IN FIRE

New Philadelphia, O., Dec. 11.—The charred body of David Hearnstine, 55, bachelor farmer, was found in the ruins of his barn, five miles south of here. Hearnstine's relatives said he had been acting queerly for several days.

OIL WELLS BEING DRILLED

Dayton, Dec. 11.—One oil well recently driven in the new field near the border between Mercer and Darke counties, is producing at the rate of 100 barrels per day. It is on the Dishar farm. On the William Altick farm nearby is another well producing ten barrels. Fifteen rigs are in operation and will continue throughout the winter with indications of being increased early in the spring.

WHITE CHRISTMAS IS NOW PROBABLE

Washington, Dec. 11.—The cold snap that has gripped the eastern part of the country for the past twenty-four hours will break today, but will be followed by another on Wednesday, according to weather bureau experts. "Seasonable weather," is what the weather experts term the present cold snap. They held out the hope there would not be much change during the week.

"Christmas is too far ahead for us to make a prediction, but it is believed certain to be a white Christmas in most places," it was declared.

GERMANY'S PLEA CAUSES TROUBLE AT ALLIED MEET

Proposals for International Loan Meet With Disapproval

ENGLAND HOLDS KEY PREMIERS AWAIT HER ACTION ON WHETHER SHE WILL SUPPORT FRANCE

London, Dec. 11.—Germany's proposals for an international loan and a flexible indemnity moratorium brought the first real dissensions in the allied premier's conference today.

The fourth session of the prime ministers was delayed until afternoon to give the British cabinet time to consider the German suggestions and formulate a policy upon them. The question was whether Great Britain would support the French in their demand for more drastic guarantees from Germany or would abide by the old Lloyd George policy of moderation with a partial cancellation of war debts.

Premier Mussolini, of Italy, stepped dramatically into the breach with a new reparations plan containing guarantees based upon economic control in Germany.

Premier Theunis of Belgium while supporting the French viewpoint, assumed his old role as mediator in an effort to bring the British and French together.

From all indications the chief cause of the trouble was the insistence of the French that troops occupy part of the Ruhr district to compel the Germans to meet any demands imposed upon them.

Just before noon Premier Poincare and Mussolini conferred between themselves when it was understood the former held out adamantly in favor of occupation of the German industrial centers and coal fields. At the break up of this meeting the indications were that the general conference would enter an unbreakable deadlock unless the British backed down, which was considered unlikely.

In view of the divergence in views between the British and French, Mussolini is said to believe that his plan was the most feasible for saving the entente. It is sort of a half way program between that of France and Great Britain.

All of the premiers are agreed that Germany must pay and that Germany must be assisted with a moratorium. The main obstacle is the nature of the pledges that shall be exacted from Berlin and the guarantees that are to be imposed to hold the Germans to their share of the bargain.

COAL COMMISSION TO QUIZ PARTIES

Washington, Dec. 11.—The bituminous coal operators and miners' representatives, "No have been asked to confer with the coal commission this week on a new wage scale, will be heard individually and privately, it was said by Chairman Hammond.

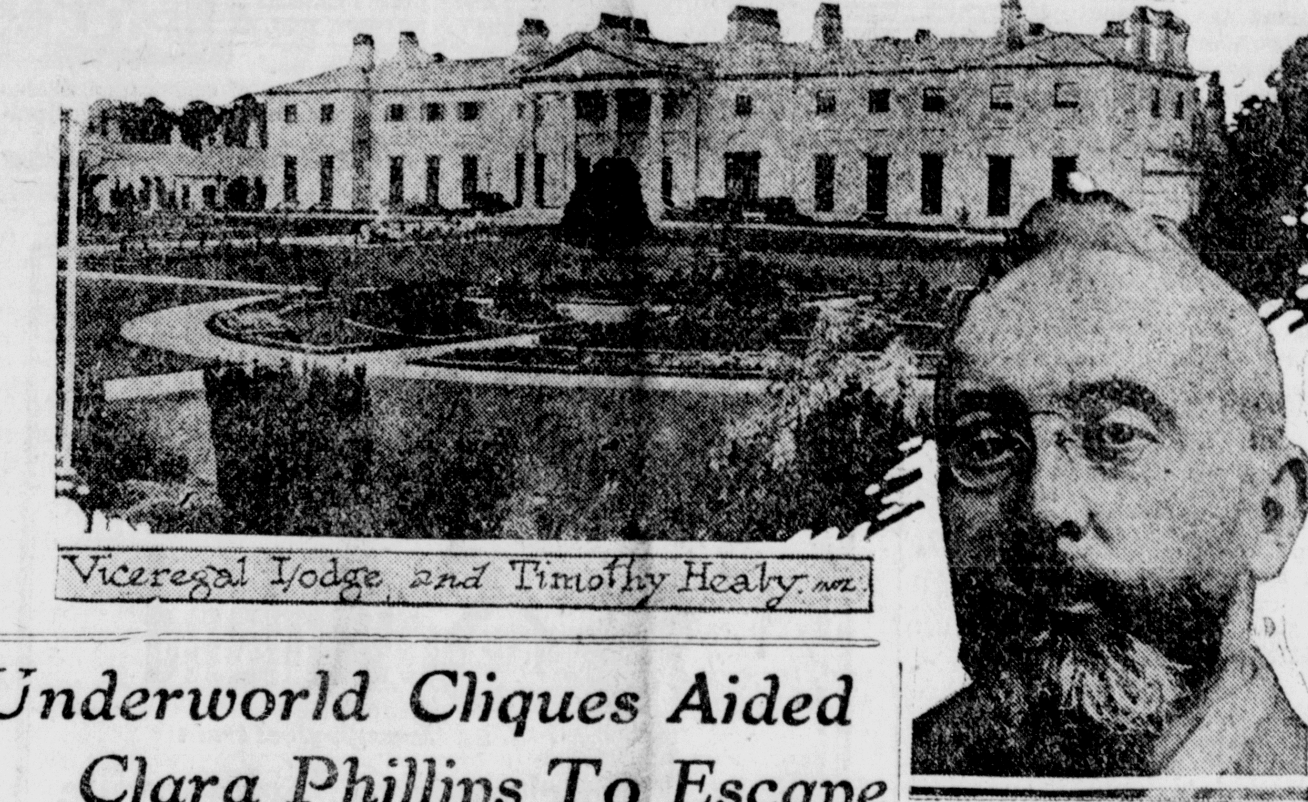

Though the commission does not consider itself empowered to attempt direct mediation or arbitration and is engaged solely in finding and disclosing facts about the industry, Mr. Hammond added, it does believe that by intervention now in the wage controversy in the industry it may be able to prevent another strike.

"It will be our purpose to impress upon the officials of the miners' union and the operators next week the fact that the American people expect them to make some agreement that will allow continued and peaceful operation of coal mines after April 1," Chairman Hammond explained. "We shall go over the matter with six or seven leading operators, whose names for the present will not be disclosed, and with officials of the miners' union."

Underworld Cliques Aided Clara Phillips To Escape

Authorities Center Attention On Theory That Get-a-way Was An Inside Job, and Known Among Prisoners.

Los Angeles, Dec. 11.—Still without a tangible clue and admitting frankly they are more mystified now at the daring escape of Clara Phillips, convicted "hammer murderess" than the minute the alarm of her get away was given, deputy sheriffs assumed hope today as they continued to look for the missing woman.

Centering their efforts on the belief the former chorus girl's escape almost a week ago was an "inside job" and know among the prisoners in advance, under Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz continued to question every prisoner in the jail to ascertain what they knew of her break for freedom. Biscailuz, at the end of several hours of questioning of prisoners said he had obtained conclusive information that led him to believe the "tiger woman" escape was carefully planned by three famous underworld cliques who combined in one great effort to get her out of jail.

Tracing Mrs. Phillips sensational get away from the window of her cell where she cut the bars with a diamond hacksaw, minute measurements of a woman's toe print, found on the roof of the jail building, were gone over in detail today in an effort to reconstruct the case.

Three prints of a human toe declared beyond a doubt to be those of Mrs. Phillips, were found in a pile of brick dust. But after the third impression the flight of Mrs. Phillips vanishes in to a realm of seemingly impenetrable mystery.

GOVERNMENT WILL TEACH PUBLIC TO MAKE TAX RETURNS

Deputy Collectors Will Be Given Instruction to Aid Payers

Washington, Dec. 11.—The government is going to teach people how to pay their taxes.

Under orders from revenue commissioner Blair, a special squad of experts left the capital today to train deputy collectors in all parts of the country in the art of imparting information to tax payers.

"Every collector a teacher," is the slogan adopted.

Ten thousand employees, including 5,000 deputy collectors, must qualify under the course of instructions between now and March 15, the date for filing the next returns.

Government officials will be saved money by getting their information free instead of from high priced private experts, and at the same time the government will benefit by increased returns.

ANGORA WILL BE TURKEY'S CAPITAL

Lausanne, Dec. 11.—Constantinople has probably ceased to be Turkey's capital for all time. It remains the seat of the caliphate and the religious center of Turkey and the Moslem world, but the Turkish delegates at Lausanne say that Mustafa Kemal Pasha and his helpers in the construction of nationalist Turkey have no thought of re-establishing Turkey's political heart within range of foreign warships which may enter the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus.

Angora has proved a safe refuge for Mustafa Kemal's national assembly, just as Moscow afforded the soviet government protection from the on-sweeping German army and the allied warships, and it will probably become the permanent capital.

POPE PLEADS FOR PEACE AT MEETING

Rome, Dec. 11.—A plea for "Christ's peace in Christ's kingdom," was voiced by Pope Pius XI today when the secret consistory met at the Vatican to create eight new cardinals. There are no Americans among the prelates receiving the red hat.

The consistory opened the ceremonies with an allocation in which the hope for peace was acclaimed. In this document the pontiff renewed the protest of the late Pope Benedict XV against the creation of a Jewish national state in Palestine, as proposed by the British who now hold a league of nations mandate for Palestine. The demand was made that Roman Catholic interests in Palestine be fully protected.

TO PROTECT PUBLIC OF FALSE SCHEMES

New York, Dec. 11.—A nation-wide information service, designed to protect the public against the promoters of fraudulent schemes, has been put into operation with the co-operation of the national vigilance committee in better business bureaus of 38 cities of the United States and Canada, it was announced. Lewis E. Pierson, chairman of the Irving National bank and a member of the advisory council of the bureau, made the announcement.

Every effort will be made to turn the public against fake promotions and stock selling schemes as they appear, Mr. Pierson said, and to protect the investor before he has traded his savings for worthless stock. The New York bureau has saved the public an estimated $50,000,000 in the past five months, it was said, through its work in stopping the operations of several schemes in the radio field, "blind jobs" and other fraudulent operations.

FIREBUGS SUSPECTED

Monroe, Mich., Dec. 11.—Seven fires, all of unknown origin, which broke out simultaneously in widely separated parts of the city, resulted in an estimated damage of $20,000 and led county and city authorities to believe an incendiary is operating here.

HUNT FOR ASSAILANT

Streatham, Tex., Dec. 11.—Posses are scouring the surrounding country here today searching for a Negro who early this morning assailed a young woman, attacking her at an outhouse near her home and binding her mouth with rags.

All business houses and schools have closed and the entire population has joined in the search. Bloodhounds have been sent for from Huntsville. It is almost certain a lynching will follow if the black is apprehended.

WOMAN KILLED IN FALL

Chicago, Dec. 11.—An unidentified woman was instantly killed today when she jumped or fell from a station platform in front of a speeding interurban train. She was hurled twenty feet and picked up dead. Hundreds of workers waiting on the platform saw the woman killed.

HAS DEBT FUNDING PLAN

London, Dec. 11.—The Evening Standard today printed a report that United States Senator Medill McCormick, who is in London, "has a reparation plan whereby the United States will cancel debts owed by the allies if France will reduce the sum of indemnity owed by Germany."

PROHIBITION FORCES ARE HELD AT BAY BY DESPERATE MOONSHINERS

Battle, Which Has Been Raging for Three Days Continues With Law Violators Defending Themselves With High Powered Rifles.

Mount Sterling, Ky., Dec. 11.—Desperate moonshiners, armed with high powered rifles, today are holding at bay prohibition forces many times their number in the mountain fastnesses on the east fork of Slate Creek Menifee County, Ky.

The battle has been raging three days. So far the casualties are two dead—both government agents. Preparations were made this morning for another invasion of the moonshiners' stronghold.

Governor Morros has been notified of the situation but as yet no request for troops has been made.

The prohibition forces are armed with machine guns and are led by U. G. McFarland, of Louisville, augmented by Sheriff Ben Wells and a posse of deputies.

One of the government men was killed Saturday, the other on Sunday. In Saturday's raid, Robert E. Duff, was shot down and stripped of his clothing and badges. The body was found to have been pierced by ten bullets, most of them fired after Duff fell.

Within a few yards of the spot where Prohibition Agent Robert C. Duff was shot to death by alleged moonshiners Saturday, Dave Treadway, 28, federal officer and member of a posse seeking the slayers of Duff, was shot from ambush and instantly killed Sunday afternoon.

Treadway was a member of a sheriff's posse which accompanied federal officers in the search. After visiting the home of Jeff Ballard the sheriff's posse proceeded to the mountains, where they found a still.

The posse had destroyed 1,400 gallons of mash and was preparing to leave the scene of the still when they were fired upon from ambush. Treadway fell with a bullet wound in his neck. He was rushed to a hospital, but died later.

Immediately after the shots were fired the officers saw three men run from the bushes. They trailed them until darkness prevented further search.

U. S. HAS NO PLAN FOR CANCELLING DEBT TO AMERICA

Administration Expresses Surprise Over Report In London.

Washington, Dec. 11.—If Senator Medill McCormick, Republican of Illinois has a plan for settling the European problem, as reported in today's London Standard, it is his own plan and not the American Government's, it was said today at both the White House and the state department when the report was brought to the attention of administration officials.

So far as the administration is concerned, it was stated officially, Senator McCormick is in Europe on a pleasure trip, and he does not represent President Harding nor the Administration. When Senator McCormick left Washington he announced he was going to Europe to visit his mother.

Those familiar with Senator McCormick's view on debt cancellation expressed doubt today that the London Standard had correctly interpreted his views. The Illinois Senator always has been a strong supporter of the policy of collecting Europe's debt to the United States. On a former trip to Europe he engaged in somewhat of a colloquy with French officials, after his return to this country over the fact the French government did not balance its budget.

LABOR AND FAMILY PROBLEMS OBJECT CLEVELAND MEETING

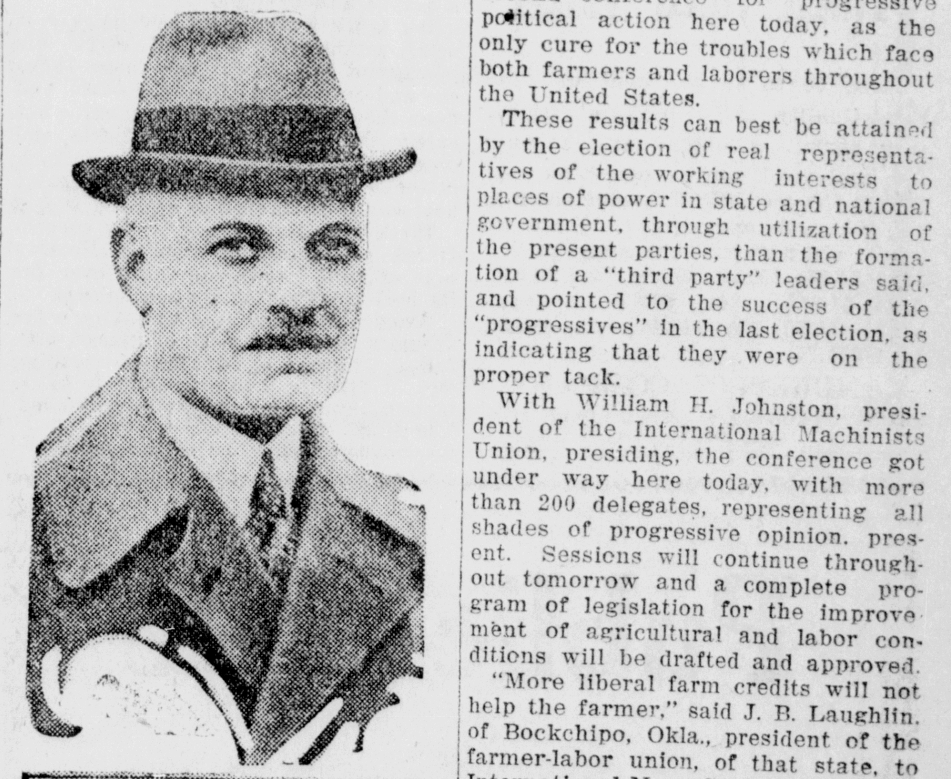

Cleveland, Dec. 11.—Solution of the inter-twined problems of taxation, transportation and marketing, through governmental co-operation such as is provided in the Norris-Sinclair bill, now pending in Congress is seen by delegates from the Midwest to the second conference for progressive political action here today, as the only cure for the troubles which face both farmers and laborers throughout the United States.

These results can best be attained by the election of real representatives of the working interests to places of power in state and national government, through utilization of the present parties, than the formation of a "third party" leaders said, and pointed to the success of the "progressives" in the last election, as indicating that they were on the proper track.

With William H. Johnston, president of the International Machinists Union, presiding, the conference got under way here today, with more than 200 delegates, representing all shades of progressive opinion, present. Sessions will continue throughout tomorrow and a complete program of legislation for the improvement of agricultural and labor conditions will be drafted and approved.

"More liberal farm credits will not help the farmer," said J. B. Laughlin, of Bockelchips, Okla., president of the farmer-labor union, of that state, to International News Service. "What is needed is some way that farmers, like other producers, can control the price of their product. We are at the mercy of the buyer when we sell and the seller when we buy. The Norris-Sinclair bill, creating a government corporation with $600,000,000 capital to buy the products of the farm and sell them to the consumer is the only practical measure of farm relief now pending in congress."

SWEET POTATOES PROVE TO BE OLD KENTUCKY BREW

Cincinnati, Dec. 11.—Four thousand quarts of old Kentucky bourbon of pre-Volstead vintage, billed as a shipment of sweet potatoes from James Davis Seabrook, S. C., to the Gordon Brother Storage Company, Chicago, was revealed in the railroad yards here late yesterday when a laborer allowed a barrel of the "potatoes" to slip out of his hands and break. The men unloading the shipment immediately went "bootlegger ways" and sought to cart the whiskey away for themselves. They were apprehended by railroad detectives after one had been shot. Federal prohibition agents were summoned and are making an investigation.

Progressive Group Ready to Join Democrats in Their Attack

Washington, Dec. 11.—Both sides
dug in today for the Senate battle over the ship subsidy bill which is expected to develop into one of the bitterest legislative struggles ever waged in that body.

Senator Jones, Republican of Washington, chairman of the Senate
commerce committee planned to throw out the first skirmish line of the administration forced by moving the bill to the "unfinished business"
and thereby given the right of way over all other pending legislation.

Senators Borah, of Idaho; La Follette of Wisconsin; Norris of Nebraska and Capper of Kansas, among those of the Republican side, who stood ready to join the Democrats in attacking the proposed subsidy, and employing various tactics to block its passage.

Senator Jones warned if the bill failed, American national defense
and commerce would alike suffer seriously.

Aside from the importance of a merchant marine as a "preparedness measure," Jones emphasized the necessity of adequate provision being made for refrigerator and other types of ocean carriers "so essential to the agricultural, business and commercial interests of our people."

MINING INDUSTRY IN THIS COUNTRY IS OVERDEVELOPED

New Coal Operations
Should Not Be Developed
It Is Claimed.

Washington, Dec. 11.—Studies of the United States coal commission already have developed the conclusion
among its members that the bituminous coal mining industry in the United States is overdeveloped, and that good business and good citizenship require investors to cease from embarking upon new coal operations.

Except in a few localities, where transportation conditions may modify the general rule, the commission asserted, increased mining activity will do harm. The present excessive coal mining capacity, the commission further said, "can not for long lower the price of coal simply because that condition of things is wasteful."

"Too many soft coal mines and too
many miners describes the situation in plain English," the commission's statement said. "In these coal mines
more capital is invested and more miners are employed than are needed
to produce the coal the country requires. The condition, of course involves waste on a country-wide scale."

"How to deflate the coal industry
is one of the many problems before the commission. It seems plain enough, however, that the industry
should not be further inflated by opening new mines."

Existing bituminous mines, the statement continued, can produce theoretically a billion tons of coal per year, while the country consumes only a half billion tons. The result, in some places, is to bring about, the commission said, a "mine working time which is too short to pay adequately either owners or miners."

weather bureau experts. "Season-

GERMANY'S PLEA CAUSES TROUBLE AT ALLIED MEET

Proposals for International

Approval

ENGLAND HOLDS KEY

Premiers Await Her Action
On Whether She Will Support France

London, Dec. 11.—Germany's proposals for an international loan and a flexible indemnity moratorium brought the first real dissensions into the allied premier's conference today.

The fourth session of the prime ministers was delayed until afternoon
to give the British cabinet time to consider the German suggestions and formulate a policy upon them. The question was whether Great Britain
would support the French in their demand for more drastic guarantees
from Germany or would abide by the old Lloyd George policy of moderation with a partial cancellation of war debts.

Premier Mussolini, of Italy, stepped dramatically into the breach with a new reparations plan containing guarantees based upon economic control in Germany.

Premier Theunin of Belgium while supporting the French viewpoint, assumed his old role as mediator in an effort to bring the British and French together.

From all indications the chief cause of the trouble was the insistence of the French that troops occupy part of the Ruhr district to compel the Germans to meet any demands imposed upon them.

Just before noon Premiers Poincare
and Mussolini conferred between themselves when it was understood
the former held out adamantly in favor of occupation of the German industrial centers and coal fields. At the break up of this meeting the indications were that the general conference would enter an unbreakable deadlock unless the British backed down, which was considered unlikely.

In view of the divergence in views
between the British and French, Mussolini is said to believe that his plan
was the most feasible for saving the entente. It is sort of a half way program between that of France and Great Britain.

All of the premiers are agreed that Germany must pay and that Germany must be assisted with a moratorium. The main obstacle is the nature of the pledges that shall be exact from Berlin and the guarantees that are to be imposed to hold the Germans to their share of the bargain.

COAL COMMISSION TO QUIZ PARTIES

Washington, Dec. 11.—The bituminous coal operators and miners' representatives, who have been asked to confer with the coal commission this week on a new wage scale, will be heard individually and privately, it was said by Chairman Hammond.

Though the commission does not consider itself empowered to attempt direct mediation or arbitration and is engaged solely in finding and disclosing facts about the industry, Mr. Hammond added, it does believe that by intervention now in the wage controversy in the industry it may be able to prevent another strike.

"It will be our purpose to impress upon the officials of the miners' union
and the operators next week the fact that the American people expect them to make some agreement that will at low continued and peaceful operation of coal mines after April 1," Chairman Hammond explained. "We shall go over the matter with six or seven leading operators, whose names for the present will not be disclosed, and
with officials of the miners' union."

Underworld Cliques Aided Clara Phillips To Escape

Authorities Center Attention On Theory That Get-a-way
Was An Inside Job, and Known Among Prisoners.

Los Angeles, Dec. 11.—Still without a tangible clue and admitting frankly they are more mystified now at the daring escape of Clara Phillips, convicted "hammer murderess" than the

lief the former chorus girl's escape almost a week ago was an "inside job"

vance, under Sheriff Eugene Bis-calluz continued to question every prisoner in the jail to ascertain what they knew of her break for freedom.
Biscalluz, at the end of several hours

TWO ARE ARRESTED; HELD ON SUSPICION

Springfield, Dec. 11.—Two men, giving the names of Joseph E. Turney and Carl Logan, "no home" were arrested in Springfield early Monday morning, at a north side residence. The men are alleged to have robbed the clothing store of J. M.
Chapman, Wilmington, last Friday.
Clothing valued at $700 was confiscated by the police.

Springfield police are holding the men, for investigation and will probably turn them over to Wilmington
authorities, who will place a charge
of burglary and larceny against them.
The clothing was carried in four suit cases, a small hand bag,
and steamer trunk. Among the articles were 25 shirts, 20 ties, 15 suits,
seven overcoats, shoes, socks, muf-
flers, 10 cartons of cigarettes, pocket

POPE PLEADS FOR PEACE AT MEETING

Rome, Dec. 11.—A plea for "Christ's peace in Christ's kingdom," was voiced by Pope Pius XI today when the secret consistory met at the Vat-

There are no Americans among the prelates receiving the red hat.

The consistory opened the ceremonies with an allocution in which the hope for peace was acclaimed.
In this document the pontiff renewed
the protest of the late Pope Benedict XV against the creation of a Jewish national state in Palestine, as proposed by the British who now hold a league of nations mandate for Palestine. The demand was made that Roman Catholic interests in

TO PROTECT PUBLIC OF FALSE SCHEMES

New York, Dec. 11.—A nation-wide information service, designed to protect the public against the promoters of fraudulent schemes, has been put into operation with the co-operation of the national vigilance committee in better business bureaus of 38 cities
of the United States and Canada, it was announced. Lewis E. Pierson, chairman of the Irving National bank
and a member of the advisory council of the bureau, made the announcement.

Every effort will be made to turn
the public against fake promotions
and stock selling schemes as they appear, Mr. Pierson said, and to protect the investor before he has traded his savings for worthless stock. The New York bureau has saved the public an estimated $50,000,000 in the past five months, it was said, through its work in stopping the operations of several schemes in the radio field, "blind
pools" and other fraudulent operations.

INCENDIARISM IS LATEST ACTIVITY OF IRISH REBELS

Irregulars Put Torch to
Homes of Free State
Officials.

Dublin, Dec. 11.—Following a wild
night of incendiarism during which Republican irregulars applied the
torch to homes of many Free State
officials, a group of Republican extremists, today issued a proclamation threatening further violence.

This manifesto said in part:
"There will not be peace until the monster begotten by England (the Irish Free State) is finally destroyed."

Rebels are active at Leenane,
Tuam, Carrigrohane and Ballyvaughan.
The heroine of the night fires was
Mrs. Sean McGarry, who, when her
home was set on fire by rebels, rushed
into an upper chamber and re-
sued her three children, all of whom were badly burned. One probably will
die. McGarry is a captain in the Free State army and military governor of
the Maryboro convict prison.

Other homes burned belonged to
Mrs. Wyse Power, a member of the Free State Senate and J. J. Walsh,
of the Free State post office department.

LARGE TURNOVER FOR LIQUOR IS SEEN THIS YEAR

Washington, Dec. 11.—The largest
turnover of money for whiskey and
other liquors since prohibition began
three years ago, will be recorded this Christmas, Revenue officials said to-
day.

In spite of enforcement barriers
against smuggled liquors, the U. S.
today has the greatest stock of imported whiskeys, wines and other intoxicants imported since 1919, and
ready for sale of liquor vendors.

Some part of the Christmas supply
represents legal withdrawals from
bonded warehouses on government
permits. By far the largest amount,
however, represents smuggled wet
goods brought in by smuggling routes.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—An unidentified woman was instantly killed today
when she jumped or fell from a station platform in front of a speeding interurban train. She was hurled twenty feet and picked up dead. Hundreds of workers waiting on the platform saw the woman killed.

HAS DEBT FUNDING PLAN

London, Dec. 11.—The Evening
Standard today printed a report that United States Senator Medill McCorn-
ick, who is in London, "has a reparation plan whereby the United States will cancel debts owed by the allies if France will reduce the sum of indemnity owed by Germany."

HUNT FOR ASSAILANT.

Streatham, Tex., Dec. 11.—Posses
are scouring the surrounding country
here today searching for a Negro who early this morning assailed a young woman, attacking her at an outhouse
near her home and binding her mouth
with rags.

All business houses and schools
have closed and the entire population has joined in the search. Blood-hounds have been sent for from Huntsville. It is almost certain a lynching will follow if the black is apprehended.

INCENDIARISM IS LATEST ACTIVITY OF IRISH REBELS

Irregulars Put Torch to
Homes of Free State
Officials.

Dublin, Dec. 11.—Following a wild
night of incendiarism during which Republican irregulars applied the
torch to homes of many Free State
officials, a group of Republican ex-
tremists, today issued a proclamation threatening further violence.

This manifesto said in part:
"There will not be peace until the
monster begotten by England (the Irish Free State) is finally destroyed."

Rebels are active at Leenane,
Tuam, Carrigrohane and Ballyvaughan.
The heroine of the night fires was
Mrs. Sean McGarry, who, when her
home was set on fire by rebels, rushed
into an upper chamber and re-
sued her three children, all of whom
were badly burned. One probably will
die. McGarry is a captain in the Free
State army and military governor of
the Maryboro convict prison.

Other homes burned belonged to
Mrs. Wyse Power, a member of the Free State Senate and J. J. Walsh,
of the Free State post office department.

LARGE TURNOVER FOR LIQUOR IS SEEN THIS YEAR

Washington, Dec. 11.—The largest
turnover of money for whiskey and
other liquors since prohibition began
three years ago, will be recorded this Christmas, Revenue officials said to-
day.

In spite of enforcement barriers
against smuggled liquors, the U. S.
today has the greatest stock of imported whiskeys, wines and other intoxicants imported since 1919, and
ready for sale of liquor vendors.

Some part of the Christmas supply
represents legal withdrawals from
bonded warehouses on government
permits. By far the largest amount,
however, represents smuggled wet
goods brought in by smuggling routes.

WORKMAN IS KILLED

East Liverpool, O., Dec. 11.—Orville

Mount Sterling, Ky., Dec. 11.—Desperate moonshiners, armed with high powered rifles, today are holding at bay prohibition forces many times
their number in the mountain fastnesses on the east fork of Slate Creek Menifee County, Ky.

The battle has been raging three

U. S. HAS NO PLAN FOR CANCELLING DEBT TO AMERICA

Administration Expresses Surprise Over Report
In London.

Washington, Dec. 11.—If Senator Medill McCormick, Republican of Illinois has a plan for settling the European problem, as reported in today's London Standard, it is his own plan and not the American Government's, it was said today at both the White House and the state department when the report was brought to the attention of administration officials.

So far as the administration is concerned, it was stated officially, Senator McCormick is in Europe on a pleasure trip, and he does not represent President Harding nor the Administration. When Senator McCorn-ick left Washington he announced
he was going to Europe to visit his mother.

Those familiar with Senator Mc-Cormick's view on debt cancellation
expressed doubt today that the London Standard had correctly interpreted his views. The Illinois Senator always has been a strong supporter of the policy of collecting Europe's debt to the United States. On a former trip to Europe he engaged in somewhat of a colloquy with French officials, after his return to this country over the fact the French government did not balance its budget.

searching for the assailant of George Emmons, 23, Grayhawk, Ky., who was taken to the General hospital suffering with a revolver shot wound in his back. It is believed he was wounded during a free for all fight.
Emmons says the shot was fired from ambush. His condition is not serious.

WARNINGS ARE HEEDDED

Cincinnati, Dec. 11.—Cincinnati
autoists took heed of the warnings posted during the week for a safe and sane Sunday yesterday and as a result there were only a few minor accidents.

BLAST KILLS FIVE

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 11.—The deaths
stand at five from the explosion which demolished four mills and several smaller buildings of the Black Diamond Powder company's plant at Sus-con, Pa., eight miles from here. The list of injured was increased to six,
of whom two are in a serious condition. The dead: Raymond Slough,
Frank Gerren, William Wright, Ralph Brumm and John Sabien.

ing for another invasion of the moon-
shiners' stronghold.
Governor Morris has been notified
of the situation but as yet no request
for troops has been made.

The prohibition forces are armed with machine guns and are led by U. G. McFarland, of Louisville, augmented by Sheriff Ben Wells and a posse of deputies.

One of the government men was killed Saturday, the other on Sunday.
In Saturday's raid, Robert E. Duff, was shot down and stripped of his clothing and badges. The body was found to have been pierced by ten bullets, most of them fired after Duff fell.

Within a few yards of the spot
where Prohibition Agent Robert C.
Duff was shot to death by alleged moonshiners Saturday, Dave Treas-
day, 28, federal officer and member of a posse seeking the slayers of Duff,
was shot from ambush and instantly
killed Sunday afternoon.

Treasday was a member of a sheriff's posse which accompanied federal officers in the search. After visiting the home of Jeff Ballard the sheriff's posse proceeded to the mountains, where they found a still.

The posse had destroyed 1,400 gallons of mash and was preparing to leave the scene of the still when they were fired upon from ambush. Treas-day fell with a bullet wound in his neck. He was rushed to a hospital, but died later.

Immediately after the shots were fired the officers saw three men run from the bushes. They trailed them until darkness prevented further search.

LABOR AND FAMILY PROBLEMS OBJECT CLEVELAND MEETING

Cleveland, Dec. 11.—Solution of the inter-twined problems of taxation,
transportation and marketing, through governmental co-operation such as is provided in the Norris-Sinclair bill,
now pending in Congress is seen by delegates from the Midwest to the second conference for progressive political action here today, as the only cure for the troubles which face
both farmers and laborers throughout the United States.

These results can best be attained
by the election of real representatives of the working interests to places of power in state and national government, through utilization of the present parties, than the formation of a "third party" leaders said,
and pointed to the success of the "progressives" in the last election, as indicating that they were on the proper tack.

With William H. Johnston, president of the International Machinists Union, presiding, the conference got under way here today, with more than 200 delegates, representing all shades of progressive opinion, present. Sessions will continue throughout tomorrow and a complete program of legislation for the improvement of agricultural and labor conditions will be drafted and approved.

"More liberal farm credits will not help the farmer," said J. B. Laughlin, of Rockchip, Okla., president of the farmer-labor union, of that state, to International News Service. "What is needed is some way that farmers, like other producers, can control the price of their product. We are at the mercy of the buyer when we sell and the seller when we buy. The Norris Sinclair bill, creating a government
corporation with $600,000,000 capital
to buy the products of the farm and sell them to the consumer is the only practical measure of farm relief now pending in congress."

SWEET POTATOES PROVE TO BE OLD KENTUCKY BREW

Cincinnati Dec. 11.—Four thousand quarts of old Kentucky bourbon of pre-Vostead vintage, billed as a shipment of sweet potatoes from James Davis Seabrook, S. C., to the Gordon
Brother Storage Company, Chicago,
was revealed in the railroad yards
here late yesterday when a laborer allowed a barrel of the "potatoes" to slip out of his hands and break. The men unloading the shipment immediately went "bootlegger ways" and sought to cart the whiskey away for themselves. They were apprehended by railroad detectives after one had been shot. Federal prohibition agents were summoned and are making an investigation.

GOVERNOR'S WIFE GIVES TESTIMONY

Oxford, Miss., Dec. 9.—Following an almost continual attack by Defense witnesses on the character of Miss Frances M. Birkhead, who is suing her former employer, Governor Lee M. Russell, for $100,000 alleging betrayal and breach of promise, the governor's wife took the witness stand when federal court convened today for the fifth day of the suit.

Half a dozen witnesses testified yesterday Miss Birkhead's character was not above reproach, in their opinions, but practically all of them admitted they were basing their testimony on rumor. One witness testified to conduct of Miss Birkhead at a dance, during which he alleged she was in a semi-intoxicated condition.

BRITISHER PRAISES WORK OF AMERICAN SOLDIERS

Washington, Dec. 11.—Rear Admiral Nicholson, senior British naval officer at Smyrna, in his official report, a copy of which was sent to Rear Admiral Briston, American high commissioner at Constantinople, declared that Commander Halsey Powell of the American destroyer Edsall was deserving of "the greatest commendation," adding that in his opinion the successful evacuation of so large a number of refugees largely was due to "his own personal efforts and also to the officers and men serving under his command."

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using the well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

STATE MAY REQUIRE PHYSICAL TRAINING

Columbus, Dec. 11.—A bill making physical education a part of the training of all Ohio boys and girls will be placed before the legislators in January, with the strong backing of the American Legion, the Parent-Teacher association and the Ohio State Teachers' association. This bill will seek to amend the present law which makes physical education compulsory in cities by extending its provisions to all school districts, city, exempted village and county.

All pupils in the elementary schools and high schools of the state are to be given not less than 100 minutes per week of physical training, in addition to the regular work in physiology and hygiene, if this suggested bill is enacted into law. Modified courses are to be provided for pupils unable to take the course designed for normal children.

MAN KILLED, POLICEMAN

Crestline, O., Dec. 11.—One man was killed, Patrolman Andrew J. Hess, 55, was shot through the abdomen and is not expected to live, and Patrolman Jerry Yetter, 50, was wounded during an affray here. When taken to the hospital, the companion of the dead man refused to reveal the identity of himself or of his companion. They are believed to be railroad section hands. Suspecting the men were bootleggers, the officers say they followed them for several blocks. Then when one of the patrolmen asked, "What have you got on your hip?" the men drew revolvers and fired. The policemen returned the fire, one of the men dropping dead.

Oxford, Miss., Dec. 9.—Following an almost continual attack by Defense witnesses on the character of Miss Frances M. Birkhead, who is suing her former employer, Governor Lee M. Russell, for $100,000 alleging betrayal and breach of promise, the governor's wife took the witness stand when federal court convened today for the fifth day of the suit.

Half a dozen witnesses testified yesterday Miss Birkhead's character was not above reproach. In their opinions, but practically all of them admitted they were basing their testimony on rumor. One witness testified to conduct of Miss Birkhead at a dance, during which he alleged she was in a semi-intoxicated condition.

BRITISHER PRAISES WORK OF AMERICAN SOLDIERS

Washington, Dec. 11.—Rear Admiral Nicholson, senior British naval officer at Smyrna, in his official report, a copy of which was sent to Rear Admiral Briston, American high commissioner at Constantinople, declared that Commander Halsey Powell of the American destroyer Edsall was deserving of "the greatest commendation," adding that in his opinion the successful evacuation of so large a number of refugees largely was due to "his own personal efforts and also to the officers and men serving under his command."

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using the well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membranes. Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. STATE MAY REQUIRE PHYSICAL TRAINING

Columbus, Dec. 11.—A bill making physical education a part of the training of all Ohio boys and girls will be placed before the legislators in January, with the strong backing of the American Legion, the Parent-Teacher association and the Ohio State Teachers' association. This bill will seek to amend the present law which makes physical education compulsory in cities by extending its provisions to all school districts, city, exempted village and county.

All pupils in the elementary schools and high schools of the state are to be given not less than 100 minutes per week of physical training, in addition to the regular work in physiology and hygiene, if this suggested bill is enacted into law. Modified courses are to be provided for pupils unable to take the course designed for normal children.

MAN KILLED, POLICEMAN

Crestline, O., Dec. 11.—One man was killed, Patrolman Andrew J. Hess, 55, was shot through the abdomen and is not expected to live, and Patrolman Jerry Yetter, 50, was wounded during an affray here. When taken to the hospital, the companion of the dead man refused to reveal the identity of himself or of his companion. They are believed to be railroad section hands. Suspecting the men were bootleggers, the officers say they followed them for several blocks. Then when one of the patrolmen asked, "What have you got on your hip?" the men drew revolvers and fired. The policemen returned the fire, one of the men dropping dead.

ANTHRACITE MINES HARD PRESSED FOR SUFFICIENT WATER

Pottsville, Pa., Dec. 11.—While winter weather settled over the country today, frantic appeals for hard coal poured into the anthracite region from scores of big and little cities and towns. Operators estimate a shortage of 20,000,000 tons from what the available supply should be at this time.

In the face of this terrific demand for immediate coal the mines in a large share of the anthracite region are confronted by the greatest drought yet known, and which continues. Water for steam purposes has dwindled away until many streams are entirely shut down while others are on the verge of closing and the remainder working on a badly crippled basis.

The Philadelphia and Reading, Pennsylvania, Lehigh Valley, and other railroads are hauling water long distances in numerous long trains made up of tank cars and surplus locomotives. Even with these water trains running day and night there is hardly enough to keep the mines going.

In the mining region today the water situation is desperate. Hard coal operators in a last effort to relieve the situation in New York and other cities are opening up discarded co-ops of scrap coal, some of which have been piled up for more than half a century. One such bank has just been leased by the Lehigh Coal Company and 100,000 tons will be sent to market.

Coal operators throughout the anthracite region were today frantically digging artesian wells to get water for steam purposes. Even the acid refuse water from the mines, the last hope, is rapidly showing an immense falling off. Unless water soon comes about all the big mines will have to close down.

YOUTH IS KILLED WHEN THROWN FROM MOTORCYCLE HERE

Wesley John Meyer, 19, R. R. No. 16, Dayton, died at Espey Hospital at three o'clock Sunday afternoon from injuries received when he was thrown from a motorcycle he had been riding at Main and Monroe Streets two hours earlier.

Meyer was taken to the hospital suffering from a fractured skull which resulted in his death, and he never regained consciousness. He also received bruises about the face and head, but was otherwise uninjured.

Lack of knowledge of how to operate the motorcycle and inexperience in riding a machine of that type, are believed to have caused the accident. The motorcycle belonged to a man named Belts, with whom Meyer had come to this city. They stopped on East Main Street and Meyer said he intended to take a ride by himself. He was told to be careful or he might have an accident.

Meyer rode east on Main Street and was on his return when the accident happened. Eye-witnesses say the machine began to wobble and an instant later Meyer was thrown from it landing on his head on the paved street. The machine fell on top of him. A motorist picked the injured youth up and rushed him to the hospital, where he died two hours later. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Meyer, who live at the Montgomery and Greene County line, arrived shortly before his death.

The youth was the only child in the family, and with his father had been operating an automobile repair shop at 122 North St. Claire street, Dayton. He was unmarried. The body was taken in charge by Undertaker J. H. Nagley and will remain here until Tuesday afternoon, when it will be taken to the home of the boy's aunt, Mrs. List at Fourth and Irvin Streets, Dayton. Funeral services will be held from the List home Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and burial will be made in Woodland Cemetery, Dayton.

SUBPOENA FIFTY SIX WITNESSES IN TRIAL OF SHERIFF'S POSSE

Fifty-six witnesses have been subpoenaed to testify in the second degree murder trials of Sheriff L. Funderburgh, Deputy Joe Day, William Burns and Charles Simms, which begins Tuesday morning in Common Pleas Court.

The subpoenas are being issued by John Baughn, of Jamestown, special deputy bailiff, who is summing witnesses because the Sheriff and deputy and Coroner R. L. Haines, are all assumed to be interested parties in the case.

Forty-eight of the witnesses have been subpoenaed by attorneys for the State, Prosecutor J. Kenneth Williams, and Special Counsel C. L. Darlington of this city and C. J. Matern of Dayton. Only eight witnesses have been subpoenaed by the defense counsel, which is composed of Marcus Shoup, C. H. Kyle, F. L. Johnson and Harry D. Smith, all of this city.

Considerable time is expected to be taken in obtaining a jury and witnesses have not been called until Wednesday. There is a possibility that the jury will not be obtained by that time either, owing to the interest in the case, in spite of the large venue of names available for duty.

The trials will be heard by Judge R. C. Hornbeck of London, and on the joint indictment charging second degree murder returned against the four accused men by the October Grand Jury, in connection with the death of Volney Nichols, September 5.

LEGION CAST IS ENTERTAINED IN DAYTON ON SUNDAY

Members of the cast of the American Legion Revue, the home-talent minstrel and musical offering staged here last week under the auspices of Joseph P. Foody Post, No. 95, American Legion, were royally entertained at the National Military Home Dayton, Saturday afternoon and evening.

Authorities of the Home furnished practically all the scenery used by the local cast in staging the play here last Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and in retaliating the company offered to again stage the offering at the Home Theater Saturday for the benefit of the ex-service men and officials there.

The Dayton, Springfield and Xenia traction company donated the use of an interurban car to haul the cast to Dayton, the same car taking the performers directly to the Soldiers' Home, where it awaited them and returned them to this city. The car left here at one o'clock and in the afternoon officials of the Home took the local people on a tour of inspection of the hospitals at the institution.

In the evening the performers were guests at dinner at the institution and afterward the theater at the Home was packed with an audience to see the presentation. It was the sixth performance given in the theater for the benefit of ex-service men there last week. The minstrel revue, directed by Adamson and McCann, of Dayton was carried out by the performers with the finesse that usually accompanies frequent presentations, and the performance was generously applauded.

WOMAN TELLS OF EARLY LIFE AND OF TROUBLE NOW

Dayton, Dec. 11.—Extreme bitterness toward her third husband, Roy J. Ford, whom she is accused of plotting to kill, and deep admiration for her second husband, Ora Hallett, Toledo garage owner, who divorced her and a passionate declaration of mother love for her children by her first husband, Roy Blemm, were manufactured in an interview today by Mrs. May Blemm Hallett Ford, Mrs. Ford is held in the county jail under $25,000 bail, charged with attempted murder.

In a highly emotional state, Mrs. Ford told of her early life and described the years of her marriage to Arthur Blemm, railroad engineer, whom she married at 17. When the latter started suit for divorce against her five years ago she fought strenuously to get the custody of her children and was successful.

"But I incurred the deep and lasting enmity of my husband's lawyer, Homer Ramey, who had come from near my home town, during the contest of this case," said Mrs. Ford, "and it is to him I trace a great deal of my trouble in the present case. I feel sure that it was he who got in touch with Roy Ford's lawyer here when he began his divorce suit and inspired the frame up which has resulted in the declaration of these Detroit detectives that I plotted with them to take my husband's life."

ALL LOCAL CLAIMS ADJUSTED LEGION COMMANDER AVERS

Assurance that 14,000 Ohio ex-service men will receive their adjusted compensation in time to use the money for their Christmas shopping as the result of the conference of Legion Commanders with the adjusted compensation commission in Columbus Sunday, was announced following the meeting by Director Robert R. Roberts.

Jacob Colp, commander of Foody Post, of this city, was among Legion Commanders from other Ohio cities who attended the meeting and listened to addresses by Roberts and Attorney General John G. Price in the morning. Charges that the adjusted compensation commission had been lax in not having satisfied all claims were withdrawn by the Legion Commanders after hearing the speakers and resolutions were passed thanking Roberts for his co-operation and that of the sinking fund commissioners in the effort to bring about prompt settlement.

Commanders with claims from ex-service men, that have not been satisfied for some reason or another, presented the claims and complaints of these men, with the property papers at the compensation office Sunday afternoon. Spending several hours there, Commander Colp managed to straighten out all claims that had been placed in his hands by Legion men and other ex-soldiers whose claims have not been satisfied. Many of the cases presented by Commanders, it developed, were not the fault of the commission.

Such the case was that of a former Xenia ex-service man, Bernard Stier, who now lives in New York City. The records at the compensation office showed that his check had been mailed to him last spring at the address given on the application, and that it had later been returned to the office unclaimed. The claim was thus outlawed. Stier had moved to a different address, and as soon as the correct destination was furnished the compensation officials, they agreed to re-mail the check to him at once.

Many of the claims and complaints were similar to this, brought on by misunderstandings. Directors of the compensation home through the meeting Sunday to clear up all unsatisfied claims, so that ex-service men who have had to wait, will be given their state bonus as soon as possible.

ANTHRACITE MINES HARD PRESSED FOR SUFFICIENT WATER

Pottsville, Pa., Dec. 11.—While winter weather settled over the country today, frantic appeals for hard coal poured into the anthracite region from scores of big and little cities and towns. Operators estimate a shortage of 20,000,000 tons from what the available supply should be at this time.

In the face of this terrific demand for immediate coal the mines in a large share of the anthracite region are confronted by the gratest drought known, and which continues. Water for steam purposes has dwindled away until many streams are entirely shut down while others are on the verge of closing and the remainder working on a badly crippled basis.

The Philadelphia and Reading, Pennsylvania, Lehigh Valley, and other railroads are hauling water long distances in numerous long trains made up from tank cars and surplus locomotives. Even with these water trains running day and night there is hardly enough to keep the mines going.

In the mining region today the water situation is desperate. Hard coal operators in a last effort to relieve the situation in New York and other cities are opening up discarded banks of scrap coal, some of which have been piled up for more than half a century. One such bank has just been leased by the Lehigh Coal Company and 100,000 tons will be sent to market.

Coal operators throughout the anthracite region were today frantically digging artesian wells to get water for steam purposes. Even the acid refuse water from the mines, the last hope, is rapidly showing an immense falling off. Unless water soon comes about all the big mines will have to close down.

YOUTH IS KILLED WHEN THROWN FROM MOTORCYCLE HERE

Wesley John Meyer, 19, R. R. No. 16, Dayton, died at Espey Hospital at three o'clock Sunday afternoon from injuries received when he was thrown from a motorcycle he had been riding at Main and Monroe Streets two hours earlier.

Meyer was taken to the hospital suffering from a fractured skull which resulted in his death, and he never regained consciousness. He also received bruises about the face and head, but was otherwise uninjured.

Lack of knowledge of how to operate the motorcycle and inexperience in riding a machine of that type, are believed to have caused the accident. The motorcycle belonged to a man named Belts, with whom Meyer had come to this city. They stopped on East Main Street and Meyer said he intended to take a ride by himself. He was told to be careful or he might have an accident.

Meyer rode east on Main Street and was on his return when the accident happened. Eye-witnesses say the machine began to wobble and an instant later Meyer was thrown from it landing on his head on the paved street. The machine fell on top of him. A motorist picked the injured youth up and rushed him to the hospital, where he died two hours later. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Meyer, who live at the Montgomery and Greene County line, arrived shortly before his death.

The youth was the only child in the family, and with his father had been operating an automobile repair shop at 122 North St. Clair street, Dayton. He was unmarried. The body was taken in charge by Undertaker J. H. Nagley and will remain here until Tuesday afternoon, when it will be taken to the home of the boy's aunt, Mrs. List at Fourth and Irvin Streets, Dayton. Funeral services will be held from the List home Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and burial will be made in Woodland Cemetery, Dayton.

The other model is developed in black satin canton with a garniture of red and gold embroidery on beige duvetyne at the side.

SUBPOENA FIFTY SIX WITNESSES IN TRIAL OF SHERIFF'S POSSE

Fifty-six witnesses have been subpoenaed to testify in the second degree murder trials of Sheriff L. Funderburgh, Deputy Joe Day, William Burns and Charles Simms, which begins Tuesday morning in Common Pleas Court.

The subpoenas are being issued by John Baughn, of Jamestown, special deputy bailiff, who is summing witnesses because the Sheriff and deputy and Coroner R. L. Haines, are all assumed to be interested parties in the case.

Forty-eight of the witnesses have been subpoenaed by attorneys for the State, Prosecutor J. Kenneth Williams, and Special Counsel C. L. Darlington of this city and C. J. Mattern of Dayton. Only eight witnesses have been subpoenaed by the defense counsel, which is composed of Marcus Shoup, C. H. Kyle, F. L. Johnson and Harry D. Smith, all of this city.

Considerable time is expected to be taken in obtaining a jury and witnesses have not been called until Wednesday. There is a possibility that the jury will not be obtained by that time either, owing to the interest in the case, in spite of the large venue of names available for duty.

The trials will be heard by Judge R. C. Hornbeck of London, and on the joint indictment charging second degree murder returned against the four accused men by the October Grand Jury, in connection with the death of Volney Nichols, September 5.

LEGION CAST IS ENTERTAINED IN DAYTON ON SUNDAY

Members of the cast of the American Legion Revue, the home-talent minstrel and musical offering staged here last week under the auspices of Joseph P. Foody Post, No. 95, American Legion, were royally entertained at the National Military Home Dayton, Saturday afternoon and evening.

Authorities of the Home furnished practically all the scenery used by the local cast in staging the play here last Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and in retreating the company offered to again stage the offering at the Home Theater Saturday for the benefit of the ex-service men and officials there.

The Dayton, Springfield and Xenia traction company donated the use of an interurban car to haul the cast to Dayton, the same car taking the performers directly to the Soldiers' Home, where it awaited them and returned them to this city. The car left here at one o'clock and in the afternoon officials of the Home took the local people on a tour of inspection of the hospitals at the institution.

In the evening the performers were guests at dinner at the institution and afterward the theater at the Home was packed with an audience to see the presentation. It was the sixth performance given in the theater for the benefit of ex-service men there last week. The minstrel revue, directed by Adamson and McCaugh, of Dayton was carried out by the performers with the finesse that usually accompanies frequent presentations, and the performance was generously applauded.

WOMAN TELLS OF EARLY LIFE AND OF TROUBLE NOW

Dec. 11.—Extreme bitterness toward her third husband, Nev J. Ford, whom she is accused of plotting to kill and deep admiration for her second husband, Ora Hallett, Toledo garage owner, who divorced her and a passionate declaration of mother love for her children by her first husband, Roy Blemm, were manufactured in an interview today by Mrs. May Blemm Hallett Ford, Mrs. Ford is held in the county jail under $25,000 bail, charged with attempted murder.

In a highly emotional state, Mrs. Ford told of her early life and described the years of her marriage to Arthur Blemm, railroad engineer, whom she married at 17.

When the latter started suit for divorce against her five years ago she fought strenuously to get the custody of her children and was successful.

"But I incurred the deep and lasting enmity of my husband's lawyer, Homer Ramey, who had come from my home town, during the contest of this case," said Mrs. Ford, "and it is to him I trace a great deal of my trouble in the present case. I feel sure that it was he who got in touch with Ney Ford's lawyer here when he began his divorce suit and inspired the frame up which has resulted in the declaration of these Detroit detectives that I plotted with them to take my husband's life."

ALL LOCAL CLAIMS ADJUSTED LEGION COMMANDER AVERS

Assurance that 14,000 Ohio ex-service men will receive their adjusted compensation in time to use the money for their Christmas shopping as the result of the conference of Legion Commanders with the adjusted compensation commission in Columbus Sunday, was announced following the meeting by Director Robert R. Roberts.

Jacob Colp, commander of Foody Post, of this city, was among Legion Commanders from other Ohio cities who attended the meeting and listened to addresses by Roberts and Attorney General John G. Price in the morning. Charges that the adjusted compensation commission had been lax in not having satisfied all claims were withdrawn by the Legion Commanders after hearing the speakers and resolutions were passed thanking Roberts for his co-operation and that of the sinking fund commissioners in the effort to bring about prompt settlement.

isfied for some reason or another, presented the claims and complaints of these men, with the property papers at the compensation office Sunday afternoon. Spending several hours there, Commander Colp managed to straighten out all claims that had been placed in his hands by Legion men and other ex-soldiers whose claims have not been satisfied. Many of the cases presented by Commanders, it developed, were not the fault of the commission.

Such the case was that of a former Xenia ex-service man, Bernard Stier, who now lives in New York City. The records at the compensation office showed that his check had been mailed to him last spring at the address given on the application, and that it had later been returned to the office unclaimed. The claim was thus outlawed. Stier had moved to a different address, and as soon as the correct destination was furnished the compensation officials, they agreed to re-mail the check to him at once.

Many of the claims and complaints were similar to this, brought on by misunderstandings. Directors of the compensation hope through the meeting Sunday to clear up all unsatisfied claims, so that ex-service men who have had to wait, will be given their state bonus as soon as possible.

AMENDMENT FEVER.

Would-be tinkers with the Constitution were never so swarmingly and vociferously busy as they are today both in and out of Congress. The new crowd brought to the surface by the political earthquake of November is coming to Washington with an ax in its hands.

Senator LaFollette's "come-outers" have taken up the century-old struggle to abolish the Electoral College. This same group, hungry for the spoils, privileges and powers of office, is anxious to so amend the Constitution that the newly elected Congress and the newly elected President may assume office immediately.

Samuel Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, wants another amendment making the decisions of the Supreme Court subject to review by Congress. Some of the advanced feminists want another "equal-rights" amendment.

Every movement and "ism" that finds itself in any way cramped by old and wise provisions of the organic law is hot for a change. We are in for another spasm of attempted amendments. Dozens of these "chains of the Constitution," as Jefferson called them, are being forged by the amateur blacksmiths of statesmanship.

The first ten amendments, the Bill of Rights of 1789-90, sprang from a fear of the national power on the part of the States. The eleventh had to do with the judicial relations between States and nations. The twelfth, of 1804, concerned itself with the Electoral College, that today is one of the radical objectives.

We let well enough alone for a long time after 1804. It was sixty-one years before we again tinkered with the national charter. It required a civil war to set us tinkering again. As the first ten limited the power of the Federal power over the States, the war amendments growing out of the slavery fight turned around and limited the power of the States. We finished with these in 1869.

The movement to limit the privileges of wealth was foreshadowed in the income-tax amendment of 1913 and the pull toward pure democracy by the direct election of Senators, approved in the same year. Six years later came prohibition and a year later the equal-suffrage amendment.

We still are in the period of change that began with the income-tax amendment. The tendency now is to undo the system of checks and balances created by the Constitution and upheld generation after generation by the courts.

The danger now is due to the fact that the Nation's class-minded folk are increasing and are finding the Constitution irksome in their peddling of panaceas and economic cure-alls. Many of the would-be amenders belong to the crowd of political "direct actionists," who would rule the United States without a written Constitution.

We can afford to go very slowly. It is hard enough to amend the Constitution, but we have never been able to throw off one of these chains after it was riveted on. Public Ledger.

SETTLING WITH BANDITS IN CHINA ONLY ENCOURAGES THEM.

Banditry in Honan and Shantung is causing worry to foreigners throughout China, particularly missionaries. Surprise is expressed at the inability of General Wu Pei-Fu to control the province in which his headquarters is situated. Fear is expressed that the anti-foreign activities of the bandits will become contagious and spread to other provinces.

The Honan bandits are not opposed to foreigners being almost entirely defeated soldiers seeking reinstatement in the army, their only means of livelihood. But they have seized the foreigners to embarrass Wu Pei-Fu, hoping thereby to force him to compromise to avoid international complications. The kidnapped missionaries, naturally, are not concerned with the motives actuating the attacks.

It is difficult for the Chinese Government to compromise continually with bandits to avoid international complications, since such settlements only encourage the bandits to seize foreigners. It will take a large amount of money to suppress the bandits.

In Tsingtao the situation is different. It was expected that as soon as Japan's strong arm was removed from Shantung the bandits would attempt to embarrass the Government, with a view of being bought off. They believed the Government would not want to admit weakness and therefore would pay the price. However, that course will only lead to future embarrassment.

It is not altogether a presumption that Shantung banditry was inspired by Chinese and Japanese groups who were opposed to Japan restoring the province.

"MONEY TO BURN" IN GERMANY.

The Reichsbank has created the job of "official money destroyer." The position offers possibilities of steady employment, as the tremendous output of paper money, eight to ten billion marks a day, and the poor quality of the paper on which the notes are lithographed or printed bring back disreputable paper money in a stream of steadily swelling proportions to the Reichsbank for retirement.

The bank has literally such vast quantities of "money to burn" that it is no longer practicable to delegate one of the regular directors, as prescribed by the statutes, to be present personally during the incineration of the canceled bills. It therefore decided to appoint an acting director with no other function than that of being present during the daily eight-hour shift at the incinerator and had selected for this post a retired army general who won distinction as a commander in the late war.

The plans of the directorate were, however, crossed by the Betriebsrat, or shop council, of Reichsbank employees, made use of that function to decree that if a post of such attractive sedentary possibilities were to be created it should go to one of the regular staff of the bank.

The flood of money to burn also has involved the bank directorate in another embarrassment. Contrary to the old Latin epigram about money, "non olet" (It does not smell) the odors from the incinerator are of such an unsavory nature that the neighbors have petitioned for the abolition of the nuisance. The bank now contemplates installing a plant to destroy the retired money by macerating the bills and reducing them to pulp in an acid bath.

A new treatment for wrinkles comes come out almost every week. To read the literature about these just-discovered methods, one would imagine that the millennium had arrived and that every woman could now go fresh-faced and young all her life. Whereas, in truth—

Well, in truth, a tiny bit more is known each year about the skin and no doubt sometime, a grand cure for wrinkles will appear. But we know of none yet. We do know that as a woman ages the tiny, tiny muscles of their ancient civilization—we have variations and improvement, to be sure, but we employ unguents to feed the skin and astringents to stimulate it—and there we are.

Masks have always been effective in treating wrinkles, many of the effeminate French Kings used pink face creams and oiled silk masks of various delicate colors. But something more comfortable and something often quite effective is a bit of silk court plaster, pasted over the wrinkle, after the wrinkle has been gently smoothed out with the fingers.

Sometimes message cream is used first. Personally, I think simply smoothing out the wrinkle, applying the plaster and letting it stay on all night is the best way; the cold cream massage and other stimulating measures can be taken in the morning.

HARD EARNED MONEY.

They're paving West Commercial Street, and many men are toiling hard; all day they trudge on weary feet, and lay the concrete by the yard. They all are stalwart husky men, whose hinges need no helpful oil; I stand and watch them now and then, and give three cheers for honest toil. "No doubt," I say, "these men of brawn pull down at least three plunks a day; and when their weekly wage is drawn a goodly share is put away. For men who earn in bitter sweat and grinding toil their humble wage, will value coin—they'll not forget to have a store for wintry age. When money seems to grow on trees, men can't be blamed who blow it in; but hardly driven men like these must think extravagance a sin." "You ought to see my merry men," the foreman said, "when payday comes; for to the birds they throw the yen, and to the cows feed princely sums. On Saturday they draw their pay, and forth they go, on pleasure bent, and Monday morning, cold and gray, finds them without a rusty cent." It matters not what wage they draw, it goes like chaff, adown the gale; there surely ought to be a law requiring men to save the kale.

We still are in the period of change that began with the income-tax amendment. The tendency now is to undo the system of checks and balances created by the Constitution and upheld generation after generation by the courts.

The danger now is due to the fact that the Nation's class-minded folk are increasing and are finding the Constitution irksome in their peddling of panaceas and economic cures. Many of the would-be amenders belong to the crowd of political "direct actionists," who would rule the United States without a written Constitution.

We can afford to go very slowly. It is hard enough to amend the Constitution, but we have never been able to throw off one of these chains after it was riveted on. Public Ledger.

SETTLING WITH BANDITS IN CHINA ONLY ENCOURAGES THEM.

Banditry in Honan and Shantung is causing worry to foreigners throughout China, particularly missionaries. Surprise is expressed at the inability of General Wu Pei-Fu to control the province in which his headquarters is situated. Fear is expressed that the anti-foreign activities of the bandits will become contagious and spread to other provinces.

The Honan bandits are not opposed to foreigners being almost entirely defeated soldiers seeking reinstatement in the army, their only means of livelihood. But they have seized the foreigners to embarrass Wu Pei-Fu, hoping thereby to force him to compromise to avoid international complications. The kidnapped missionaries, naturally, are not concerned with the motives actuating the attacks.

It is difficult for the Chinese Government to compromise continually with bandits to avoid international complications, since such settlements only encourage the bandits to seize foreigners. It will take a large amount of money to suppress the bandits.

In Tsingtao the situation is different. It was expected that as soon as Japan's strong arm was removed from Shantung the bandits would attempt to embarrass the Government, with a view of being bought off. They believed the Government would not want to admit weakness and therefore would pay the price. However, that course will only lead to future embarrassment.

It is not altogether a presumption that Shantung banditry was inspired by Chinese and Japanese groups who were opposed to Japan restoring the province.

"MONEY TO BURN" IN GERMANY.

The Reichsbank has created the job of "official money destroyer." The position offers possibilities of steady employment, as the tremendous output of paper money, eight to ten billion marks a day, and the poor quality of the paper on which the notes are lithographed or printed bring back disreputable paper money in a stream of steadily swelling proportions to the Reichsbank for retirement.

The bank has literally such vast quantities of "money to burn" that it is no longer practicable to delegate one of the regular directors, as prescribed by the statutes, to be present personally during the incineration of the canceled bills. It therefore decided to appoint an acting director with no other function than that of being present during the daily eight-hour shift at the incinerator and had selected for this post a retired army general who won distinction as a commander in the late war.

The plans of the directorate were however, crossed by the Betriebsrat, or shop council, of Reichsbank employees, made use of that function to decree that if a post of such attractive sedentary possibilities were to be created it should go to one of the regular staff of the bank.

The flood of money to burn also has involved the bank directorate in another embarrassment. Contrary to the old Latin epigram about money, "non olet" (It does not smell) the odors from the incinerator are of such an unsavory nature that the neighbors have petitioned for the abolition of the nuisance. The bank now contemplates installing a plant to destroy the retired money by macerating the bills and reducing them to pulp in an acid bath.

The report is that the Ohio Cordage works which has been idle for several months will start up next week, and that the Hooven and Allison will also begin running a night force.

Quite a stir has been caused in South Charleston, over the report which has been in circulation for the past few days to the effect that the Building and Loan Association of that place is in a bad way.

There are rumors that a marriage will occur shortly, between two young people well known in Xenia. The young man is connected with one of the telephone companies and the young lady was formerly with one of the leading business houses of the city.

Mr. M. J. Hartley of this city was elected to the Board of Trustees at the election of grand lodge officers at the convention of the Ohio Odd Fellows, this week.

A new treatment for wrinkles comes out almost every week. To read the literature about these just-discovered methods, one would imagine that the millennium had arrived and that every woman could now go fresh-faced and young all her life. Whereas, in truth—

Well, in truth, a tiny bit more is known each year about the skin and no doubt sometime, a grand cure for wrinkles will appear. But we know of none yet. We do know that as a woman ages the tiny, tiny muscles of their ancient civilization—we have variations and improvement, to be sure, but we employ unguents to feed the skin and astringents to stimulate it—and there we are.

Masks have always been effective in treating wrinkles, many of the feminine French Kings used pink face creams and oiled silk masks of various delicate colors. But something more comfortable and something often quite effective is a bit of silk court plaster, pasted over the wrinkle, after the wrinkle has been gently smoothed out with the fingers.

Sometimes massage cream is used first. Personally, I think simply smoothing out the wrinkle, applying the plaster and letting it stay on all night is the best way; the cold cream massage and other stimulating measures can be taken in the morning.

NAMED BY THE PEOPLE

Over 67 years ago, Rev. Father John O'Brien of Lowell, Mass., recommended to his parishioners and friends the prescription that restored him to health and strength, so the people named it Father John's Medicine. It relieves colds, soothes and heals the breathing passages and builds up the body.

As a guarantee that the story of Father John's Medicine is absolutely true, the sum of $25,000.00 will be given to any charitable institution if it can be shown otherwise.

HARD EARNED MONEY.

They're paving West Commercial Street, and many men are toiling hard; all day they trudge on weary feet, and lay the concrete by the yard. They all are stalwart husky men, whose hinges need no helpful oil; I stand and watch them now and then, and give three cheers for honest toil. "No doubt," I say, "these men of brawn pull down at least three plunks a day; and when their weekly wage is drawn a goodly share is put away. For men who earn in bitter seat and grinding toil their humble wage, will value coin—they'll not forget to have a store for wintry age. When money seems to grow on trees, men can't be blamed who blow it in; but hardly driven men like these must think extravagance a sin." "You ought to see my merry men," the foreman said, "when payday comes; for to the birds they throw the yen, and to the cows feed princely sums. On Saturday they draw their pay, and forth they go, on pleasure bent, and Monday morning, cold and gray, finds them without a rusty cent." It matters not what wage they draw, it goes like chaff, adown the gale; there surely ought to be a law requiring men to save the kale.

MAN IS FAILURE WITHOUT GOD IS BELIEF STRESSED

The evangelistic services at the Church of the Nazarene, reached their highest pitch Sunday, with large crowds attending each service. In addition to the special sermons of Mrs. Flora Ruth Chatfield, the Male and Mixed Quartette and orchestra of the Nazarene Church of Columbus, gave musical programs at each service. The male quartet sang "I'm Satisfied with Jesus," "I Want My Life to Tell for Jesus," "Sometime, Somewhere," while the mixed quartette sang "What Will It Be To See Jesus."

Mrs. Chatfield took for her text in the morning service, "What is in thy hand," Gen. 4:2, with "Human Powers and Their Possibilities," as the subject of her sermon. She said in part, "Man's Possibilities in the Natural World, are his inventive genius, his literary powers, his oratorical powers, his scientific researches, which are all failures unless guided by God."

The Rev. J. W. Henry, pastor of the Nazarene Church of Dayton, preaching for his text, Heb. 11:16, "But now they desire a better country, that is, an heavenly; wherefore God is not ashamed to be called their God; for he hath prepared for them a city." The Rev. Mr. Henry's theme was "Heaven."

Mrs. Chatfield took for her text Sunday night, Matt. 24:44, on "The Second Coming of Christ." She said we are living in the last days, and dwelt on the signs of the times. The evangelist took the modern inventions such as the automobile, airplane and submarines as proof of the fulfilling of the prophecy.

Services will continue during every night of the coming week.

SLAYS MAN WHO KILLED FATHER

Grayson, Ky., Dec. 11.—Harrison Blanton shot and killed Paul Herron on the courthouse steps, a few minutes after Herron had been acquitted of killing the former's father, William Blanton. The slaying was witnessed by a crowd of men and women, most of whom had attended the trial. Blanton surrendered.

Blanton's father was shot at Wilson's Creek, on July 15. A crowd of men became disorderly and Warner Blanton, a deputy sheriff, attempted to make an arrest. The prisoner resisted and, according to testimony offered at the trial, Herron and others took his part. William Blanton came to the assistance of his son, the deputy, and several shots were fired, causing his death. Herron and three other men were tried for the killing. All were acquitted.

ENROLLMENT IS HEAVY

Columbus, Dec. 11.—The high school enrollment in Ohio has grown four times as fast as the population of the last three decades. Nearly 24 per cent of the state's total population is in high school. The high school group constitutes 14 per cent of the population between 10 and 21 years of age. High school enrollment, about 160,000, is six times as great as it was 30 years ago.

P. O. SHORTAGE DISCLOSED

Elyria, O., Dec. 11.—Disclosure of a shortage of $1,500 in the Elyria post-office was made in connection with the dismissal of Postmaster D. W. Seward and the subsequent appointment of J. W. McHenry to be acting postmaster. Seward said that he had been made to bear the brunt of the misconduct of an Elyria postoffice employee, who was responsible for the shortage last August.

VETERANS TO RECEIVE CHECKS FOR CHRISTMAS

Columbus, Dec. 11.—Fourteen thousand Ohio ex-service men will receive their adjusted compensation in time to use the money for their Christmas shopping. These checks will total more than $1,800,000. This holiday cheer was dispensed by Director Robert R. Roberts of the Ohio department of adjusted compensation at a meeting of American Legion officials from all over Ohio and members of the Ohio sinking fund commission.

TIGER MAKES LAST PUBLIC APPEARANCE

Chicago, Dec. 11.—Georges Clemenceau, former premier of France, made his last public appearance in the United States here this afternoon.

He spoke before the American Farm Bureau Federation on "the American farmer as a world citizen." The war statesman arrived here this morning from Cresson Pa., in the Allegheny mountains, where he rested yesterday.

His address before the farmers today dealt mostly with foreign markets.

Immediately after his speech he will return to New York. He will sail for France Wednesday.

TOWNSHIPS REPRESENTED

Each of the twelve townships of the county will be represented at the annual meeting of the Greene County Farm Bureau Saturday, when the various township chairmen will tell of the work in the Farm Bureau in their vicinity completed during the past year. SIMPLE HOME MEALS FOR A WEEK

"Please build a set of menus for one entire week," writes a reader of this column. "I keep house for two elderly aunts. We cannot afford elaborate and expensive meals, but we do want to be well nourished."

The following set of menus is heavy enough for a family of women. And I consider these meals just about as plain and inexpensive as one can possibly have and yet be well nourished.

For Breakfast Every day in the week: Half an orange per person (oranges contain a large percentage of "vitamines"—those minerals which keep our blood healthy.) Some kind of cooked cereal. Coffee served with hot milk. An egg, prepared in some way and buttered toast. The average person likes this standard type of breakfast without much variation. Such a breakfast as this gives one a vigorous start for the day.

Sunday Noon Dinner: Rump Roast of Beef (a four pound roast) with brown gravy; white potatoes pared and roasted in the meat-pan; Onions, either fried, or boiled and creamed. Apple Sauce with Mock Whipped Cream on it (that is, stiffly beaten egg-white, which is sweetened and has a little jelly added to make it stiff).

Sunday Night Supper: Cornmeal Mush with milk and sugar; tea, jelly on bread.

Monday Noon Lunch: Fried Bacon Sandwiches, Tea, Jelly.

Monday Night Dinner: Cold Left Over Roast of Beef, warmed-up brown gravy; mashed white potatoes, creamed boiled carrots, hot steamed fruit pudding with a hard sauce.

Tuesday Noon Lunch: Baked Beans Tomato Catsup, Apple Sauce, Tea.

Tuesday Night Dinner: Left-over scraps of Sunday's roast, sliced and warmed up in its brown gravy; boiled white potatoes, boiled parsnips, ing to information received here.

Tapioca Pudding.
Wednesday Noon Lunch: Baked Macaroni-Cheese Dish, cocoa, jelly.
Wednesday Night Dinner: Hamburg Steak Meat Balls with Brown Gravy. Boiled White Potatoes, Cauliflower or Cabbage, Apple Betty with Hard Sauce.

Thursday Noon Lunch: Baked Grapefruit Dish, Tea, Jelly.

Thursday Night Dinner: Beef Stew (with carrots, onions and white potatoes in it. One pound of lean beef is sufficient for three women.) Cornstarch Pudding.

Friday Noon Lunch: Griddle Cakes served with Maple Syrup, cocoa, jelly.
Friday Night Dinner: Baked Cod "Steak," white potatoes, either canned peas or canned tomatoes, stewed prunes.

Saturday Noon Lunch: Baked Cheese Rice Dish, Tea, Jelly.
Saturday Night Dinner: Either Veal Cutlet or Broiled Slice of Ham, Mashed white potatoes, Boiled Beets, Lemon Gelatine.

"Pussyfoot" Loses Fight

Wellington, New Zealand, Dec. 9.—William ("Pussyfoot") Johnson, who has been leading a vigorous campaign to make New Zealand "bone dry" lost his battle today when official tabulation of votes in the national referendum show a majority of 16,138 in favor of continuing the present system of licensing drink sales.

A similar referendum three years ago gave a majority of only 3,262 in favor of continuation of the licensing scheme.

DRYS TO USE SPEED BOATS

Pensacola, Fla., Dec. 11.—A fleet of fast vessels of the Government service, with a prohibition officer in charge, will traverse the coasts of Florida, Alabama and Louisiana in search of liquor smugglers, according to information received here.

Chapters From A Woman's Life

BY JANE PHELPS

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters

Doreen Page is jealous of her artist husband's model, Helen Ralstrom, Walter's mother, visiting the couple, also disapproves her son's attitude.

Grace Harter, an "old flame" of Walter's whom Doreen does not quite trust, also sides against Helen. Page continues paying the latter noticeable attention, however, taking her home in his roadster, inviting her to parties and so on. One day when the young wife stops in at her husband's studio she finds a note from Helen to Walter begging that he take her riding in the country. Doreen inquires of the Jap who tells her Mr. Page has left for the day.

Soon after Doreen's little son is born.

Helen shows Ralph Connor, artist-critic, a snapshot of herself and Walter in bathing togs to arouse Doreen's jealousy.

CHAPTER 49

Even though Doreen saw through Helen Ralstrom's device to attract Ralph Connor's attention, she flushed painfully at Walter's remark. He was ashamed of the picture, else why had he been so annoyed that it had not been destroyed.

"How small Helen Ralstrom is," I thought bitterly, "to go out of her way to annoy me." But I spoke brightly to Walter, chatted a moment with Ralph Connor, then left.

It was not easy to hide my jealousy of Helen Ralstrom, all signs of how she often hurt me. But it had been clear to me from the first that showing my jealousy was no way to handle Walter.

And now that our little son had come to us I felt it almost an insult to his father to doubt him.

Yet as I walked away from the studio my cheeks burned, my heart was hot with indignation. Why wouldn't Walter let her go? Get another model? Surely there were many girls as suited to his work as she, many beautiful girls who would not cause me to be unhappy.

Mrs. Page glanced keenly at me when I reached home.

"Has anything gone wrong, Doreen?" she asked.

"No, why?"

"I thought you looked disturbed. While you are nursing the baby you must keep calm. It's bad for a child to have a mother out of sorts." It was the baby she was thinking of—her grandson, not me.

"Where did you go?" she queried.

"I took a walk, then dropped in at the studio a moment."

"Ah, I suppose Miss Ralstrom upset you."

"Not at all!" I replied. "Ralph Connor was there and I chatted with him. He is a delightful man. You must meet him sometime," I added as I left the room.

But my little white lie was not to go unchallenged. When Walter came in he said:

"I don't know what got into Helen today to show that silly picture to Connor. I didn't dream she had saved it."

"What picture?" his mother asked.

"Oh, a silly thing Helen and I had taken one day when we were at the beach!"

I caught Mrs. Page's eyes fixed on me. A peculiar smile hovered on her lips. But she said nothing then. After Walter left us, however, she remarked:

"So that was it! What kind of a picture was it?"

"In their bathing suits. The picture meant nothing. People often have such snap-shots taken," I said. "It was the way she showed it to Mr. Connor."

"Isn't a good habit to lie, Doreen, even to protect Walter. I knew something had happened, something disagreeable, as soon as I saw you. After this when I ask a question, please answer it truthfully or not at all."

I made no reply, my thoughts busy.

Walter had not cared a whit that I saw the picture, how it might affect me. He was embarrassed that Ralph Connor, a man whose opinions are respected, should see the intimate pose. I visualized the scene in the studio after Connor left, Helen's laughing triumph that she had let the picture be seen.

I was terribly afraid Mrs. Page would speak of it again to Walter, tell him I had been chagrined, hurt. But to my relief it was not again mentioned. Yet I realized there was no use trying to hide very much from her sharp eyes. I must learn to mask my feelings better.

Chapters From A Woman's Life

BY JANE PHELPS

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters

Doreen Page is jealous of her artist husband's model, Helen Ralstrom, Walter's mother, visiting the couple, also disapproves her son's attitude.

Grace Harter, an "old flame" of Walter's whom Doreen does not quite trust, also sides against Helen.

Page continues paying the latter noticeable attention, however, taking her home in his roadster, inviting her to parties and so on. One day when the young wife stops in at her husband's studio she finds a note from Helen to Walter begging that he take her riding in the country. Doreen inquires of the Jap who tells her Mr. Page has left for the day.

Soon after Doreen's little son is born.

Helen shows Ralph Connor, artist-critic, a snapshot of herself and Walter in bathing togs to arouse Doreen's jealousy.

CHAPTER 43

Even though Doreen saw through Helen Ralstrom's device to attract Ralph Connor's attention, she flushed painfully at Walter's remark. He was ashamed of the picture, else why had he been so annoyed that it had not been destroyed.

"How small Helen Ralstrom is," I thought bitterly, "to go out of her way to annoy me." But I spoke brightly to Walter, chatted a moment with Ralph Connor, then left.

It was not easy to hide my jealousy of Helen Ralstrom, all signs of how she often hurt me. But it had been clear to me from the first that showing my jealousy was no way to handle Walter.

And now that our little son had come to us I felt it almost an insult to his father to doubt him.

Yet as I walked away from the studio my cheeks burned, my heart was hot with indignation. Why wouldn't Walter let her go? Get another model? Surely there were many girls as suited to his work as she, many beautiful girls who would not cause me to be unhappy.

Mrs. Page glanced keenly at me when I reached home.

"Has anything gone wrong, Doreen?" she asked.

"No, why?"

"I thought you looked disturbed. While you are nursing the baby you must keep calm. It's bad for a child to have a mother out of sorts." It was the baby she was thinking of—her grandson, not me.

"Where did you go?" she queried.

"I took a walk, then dropped in at the studio a moment."

"Ah, I suppose Miss Ralstrom upset you."

"Not at all!" I replied. "Ralph Connor was there and I chatted with him. He is a delightful man. You must meet him sometime," I added as I left the room.

But my little white lie was not to go unchallenged. When Walter came in he said:

"I don't know what got into Helen today to show that silly picture to Connor. I didn't dream she had saved it."

"What picture?" his mother asked.

"Oh, a silly thing Helen and I had taken one day when we were at the beach."

I caught Mrs. Page's eyes fixed on me. A peculiar smile hovered on her lips. But she said nothing then. After Walter left us, however, she remarked:

"So that was it! What kind of a picture was it?"

"In their bathing suits. The picture meant nothing. People often have such snap-shots taken," I said. "It was the way she showed it to Mr. Connor."

"It isn't a good habit to lie, Doreen, even to protect Walter. I know something had happened, something disagreeable, as soon as I saw you. After this when I ask a question, please answer it truthfully or not at all."

I made no reply, my thoughts busy. Walter had not cared a whit that I saw the picture, how it might affect me. He was embarrassed that Ralph Connor, a man whose opinions he respected, should see the intimate pose. I visualized the scene in the studio after Connor left, Helen's laughing triumph that she had let the picture be seen.

I was terribly afraid Mrs. Page would speak of it again to Walter, tell him I had been chagrined, hurt. But to my relief it was not again mentioned. Yet I realized there was no use trying to hide very much from her sharp eyes. I must learn to mask my feelings better.
